Monthly Fact Sheet

Fund Performance

- In January, the Fund generated positive returns and outperformed its Benchmark.
- During the month, our selections within investment-grade corporates across Australian dollar, euro and US dollar issuers contributed to performance amid broad spread tightening in the month, notably across the banking space.
- Select exposures to emerging-market (EM) corporates were additive. Our eurozone positioning was also positive, with yields having fallen in the front and belly of the curve. Local Mexican exposure, as well as our US and Canada positioning were also additive.

Fund Strategy

- We decreased our overall investment-grade exposure during the month, with a number of composition changes. We rotated from US dollar, British pound, and euro-denominated credits into the Australian dollar. Markets are pricing in further RBA rate hikes, with the policy rate expected to reach around 4.25% by year-end, a level well beyond other major central banks' near-neutral rates. This outlook is likely to strengthen the Australian dollar and weigh on growth, reinforcing the case for locking in high yields by increasing exposure to Australian bonds and adding Australian dollar investment-grade credit.

- Across the high-yield space, we took some risk out of the US dollar side of the Portfolio and rotated it into the British pound, where we added a number of communication names. We also added a euro-denominated issuer in the electric space.
- In January, we broadly maintained our allocation to ESG bonds.

Fund Composition Disclosure

Numbers may not sum due to rounding.

The Fund seeks to control risks and enhance returns through currency management. The Fund intends to hedge to Australian dollars most of the foreign currency exposures of its debt and fixed income securities; however, up to 10% of the Fund's net asset value may be exposed to the risks and returns of international currencies. The Fund is currently 98.5% hedged to Australian dollars.

The Fund may invest up to 40% of its assets in lower-rated, higher-yielding noninvestment-grade debt and fixed-income securities as rated by a credit rating agency (CRA). Debt and fixed income securities that are rated below investment grade are commonly referred to as "junk bonds." They are considered to be more speculative in nature and subject to a greater risk of loss of principal and interest income than investment-grade securities. Investment-grade-rated assets, on the other hand, are those which, in the opinion of a CRA, are more likely to meet their financial commitments. Ratings assigned by a CRA are merely the opinion of that CRA about the likelihood of the issuers of the rated securities to meet their debt obligations when they fall due or the likelihood of loss in the event of a default of the issuer of the rated securities. Credit ratings used by the investment manager are intended for use by wholesale clients, and should not be relied upon by retail clients when making a decision about the product offered in the Fund's PDS. Ratings should not be taken to be an indication of investment merit or a recommendation to buy, sell or hold any particular investment. There are inherent limitations with credit ratings; future events and developments cannot be foreseen and credit ratings may change over time due to, among other things, a change in the financial condition of the issuer. The investment manager may use credit ratings of securities as an input into security selection alongside the investment manager's own screening, research and risk-management processes.

Performance Figures

In Australian dollars. Numbers may not sum due to rounding. The total, growth and distribution returns of the Fund are net of fees and costs and do not allow for tax or inflation. Performance is calculated in accordance with the Financial Services Council Standard No. 6, using the relevant end-of-month exit prices, and assumes that income is reinvested and that the investment is held for the full period. The performance figures are historical and past performance is not necessarily an indication of future performance. The information above may change.
